Message from the Secretary: 2014 Asian and Pacific Islander Heritage Month

Each year, we set aside the month of May to honor and celebrate Asian and Pacific Islander Ameri cans and their immense contributions to our way of life. Those contributions reflect the vibran cy of cultures that orig inate in a vast geography that is diverse, exotic, and brilliant in color.

The sheer size of the Asia-Pacific region, some 40 nations, makes it impossible to acknowledge appropriately each of its fascinating cultures in a single observance. With some exceptions, they are people of color, and because island communities predominate, many know the Pacific Ocean intimately. Yet, many others find their roots in the cultures of two of the world's most populous nations—China and India—where large populations never see the ocean in their lifetimes. Asian and Pacific Islander Americans come from tribes, kingdoms, empires, democracies—and, yes, from nations with oppressive regimes that drove the unbowed to our shores, where freedom and liberty beckoned.

With them came their love of music and dance, their dress, cuisine, art, languages, and the love of family. Their customs span social structures—from stone-age tribes to space-age societies. Some islanders were voyagers, both for commerce and curiosity. They perfected the art of navigating without instruments, using instead the currents, stars, and the wind to guide and propel them across broad reaches of the Pacific. Even today, mariners and helmsmen have barely deciphered their methods.

They were courageous beyond imagination, drawn into the swirl of human migration simply by the promise of opportunity. Venturing beyond their communities was a search for better lives for themselves and, more importantly, their children. Those who made the original journeys left behind what little security they had—family, friends, work, property, perhaps little more than a hut on a small patch of land. They worked hard to fulfill the dreams of better futures for their children. To their disappointment, some children, all too soon, found customs and traditions less important, and elders worried that if all culture were lost, their identities as a people would not be far behind—that sense of who they are, where they came from. So, celebrating heritage months like this one rekindles in important ways memories of a vibrant past.

Today, over 15 million Americans identify themselves as Asian or Pacific Islanders—some 315,000 of them are Veterans. Over 101,000 Asian and Pacific Islanders wear the military uniforms of our Nation, and more than 45,000 of those were not born here. Among VA's ranks, more than 25,000 of our colleagues are of Asian or Pacific Islander descent, and nearly 3,500 of them are Veterans themselves.

With great pride, I join the Department of Veterans Affairs in honoring our Veterans and all our citizens of Asian and Pacific Islander descent and thank them for keeping our country the beacon of democracy and promise for those still hungering for opportunity.

TUG Robots Improve Efficiency at Hines VAH

By Charity Hardison Hines VAH Public Affairs

This year, Hines VAH began using robotic couriers, known as TUGs, with much success.

Developed by Pittsburgh-based Aethon, the TUG robots haul carts throughout Hines, delivering medical and pharmaceutical supplies.

"TUGs have been a proven asset to hospitals around the country, and we are happy to have them in use here at Hines" said Tom Huettemann, Hines' Chief Logistics Officer. "The TUG robots use 'laser whiskers' to avoid obstacles and humans, wirelessly open doors and call for elevators."

Within the first two months of running, the TUGs covered more than 365 miles while delivering to more than 100 locations, allowing for increased efficiency and quality of products being delivered.

"Anywhere you need something to go, the TUG can take it there," said Huettemann. "The TUGs will soon be delivering meals to our patients as well."

Because the TUGs use some of the same passageways as Hines employees and patients, Huettemann and his team selected particular routes of travel and operating hours for the robots.

"We selected the most efficient travel routes, and we operate the TUGs primarily during non-peak hours," said Huettemann. The TUGs travel on the elevators as well, and Hines staff, patients and visitors should be aware that the TUGs need to travel in the elevators alone because of their required maneuvers.

"The TUG is automatically programmed to call for the elevator," said Huettemann. "During these times, the TUG takes complete control of the elevator by slowly approaching and making its way into the elevator. The TUG must maneuver itself into the elevator and make a complete U-turn to position itself for an exit. For this reason, we ask that people not attempt to get on the elevator with the TUG because it will sense they are nearby and will stop what it is doing for safety reasons. This will prevent the elevator for moving. The TUG will stop its approach if someone is waiting to travel from floor to floor."

Huettemann hopes the Hines staff will help with naming the TUGs.

"We want to name each of the TUGs, so if any Hines staff has suggestions I'd like them to send their ideas my way."

A TUG robot travels through the hallways of Hines to deliver supplies. Hines began using TUG robots this year, and the TUGs have traveled nearly 400 miles on campus.

By William Baxter, Social Worker Hines VAH

A Hines VAH employee recently competed in her sixth Triathlon in Hawaii on March 30.

Katherine Gemmell, a social worker in the Hines Homeless Program, competed in the Lavaman Triathlon, which is an Olympic-distance triathlon consisting of a .9-mile swim in Anaeho'omalu Bay, followed by a 24.8-mile bike ride along the Queen Ka'ahumanu Highway, ending with a 6.2-mile run through the grounds of the Waikaloa Resort.

"I originally started racing triathlon with Team In Training, an organization that works with the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society to fund cancer research and provide financial assistance to current patients," said Gemmell. "I did my first two Lavaman events with them as well as an event in Washington, D.C. After moving from the San Diego area, I continued to compete on my own. This triathlon was my fourth competition on the Lavaman course and sixth race overall."

With a personal best time of 3:00:56, Gemmell placed 16th in her age group, coming in 7th in her favorite event, the swim.

Two days after the Lavaman Triathlon, Gemmell completed in the bike course for the Ironman Triathlon World Championship, finishing in just over eight hours. This 112-mile bike course in Kona, Hawaii included more than 4,500 feet of total positive vertical elevation gain.

"Competing has made a very positive impact on my life," said Gemmell. "I have been able to focus more on my overall health. I also use triathlon as my primary source of self-care. It has become such a large part of my life at this point that it's honestly hard to imagine a time where I won't be racing. Triathlon also allows me to travel to places I've never been and meet people that I am very close to after Gemmell said the perseverance required in a triathlon also helps her in her work with Veterans.

Survey: Veterans Highly Satisfied with VA Care

WASHINGTON -- The American Customer Satisfaction Index (ACSI), an independent customer service survey, ranks the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) customer satisfaction among Veteran patients among the best in the nation and equal to or better than ratings for private sector hospitals. The 2013 ACSI report assessed satisfaction among Veterans who have recently been patients of VA's Veterans Health Administration (VHA) inpatient and outpatient services. ACSI is the nation's only cross-industry measure of customer satisfaction, providing benchmarking between the public and private sectors.

Denise Van Koevering was appointed

at Hines, effective March 23.

In 2013, the overall ACSI satisfaction index for VA was 84 for inpatient care and 82 for outpatient care, which compares favorably with the U.S. hospital industry (scores of 80 and 83, respectively). Since 2004, the ACSI survey has consistently shown that Veterans give VA hospitals and clinics a higher customer satisfaction score, on average, than patients give private sector hospitals. These overall scores are based on specific feedback on customer expectations, perceived value and quality, responsiveness to customer complaints, and customer loyalty. One signature finding for 2013 is the continuing high degree of loyalty to VA among Veterans, with a score of 93 percent favorable. This score has remained high (above 90 percent) for the past ten years.

"Every day, our dedicated VA employees, many of whom are Veterans themselves, strive to provide millions of Veterans with the excellent care they have earned and deserve," said Secretary of Veterans Affairs Eric K. Shinseki. "Our Nation's Veterans deserve the best care, and the ACSI survey results help us better understand how Vet erans feel about their overall health care experience at VA. There is always more work to do, and we are focused on continuous improvement to the care we provide." Additionally, Veterans strongly endorsed VA health care, with 91 percent offering positive assessments of inpatient care and 92 percent for outpatient care. When asked if they would use a VA medical center the next time they need inpatient care or outpatient care, Veterans overwhelmingly indicated they would (96 and 95 percent, respectively).

Veterans also responded positively to questions related to customer service for both VA inpatient care (92 percent favorable) and outpatient care (91 percent). Medical providers and appointment personnel were considered highly courteous with scores of 92 and 91, respectively. Additionally, VA medical providers ranked high in professionalism (90 percent positive).

"VA's strategy of providing a personalized, proactive, patient-driven approach to health care is positively impacting Veterans' experiences at our 1700 sites of care nationwide," said Dr. Robert A. Petzel, VA's Under Secretary for Health. "We are transitioning to a health service focused on Veterans' personal health care goals, and this is reflected in the ACSI score." With over eight million Veterans enrolled, VA operates the largest integrated health care delivery system in the United States. Our mission is to honor America's Veterans by providing exceptional health care that improves their health and well-being. VA provides a broad range of primary care, specialized care, and related medical and social support services. VA provided 89.7 million outpatient visits last fiscal year. VA has 236,000 health care appointments per

by John Crawford

VA Research Communications

Recovery from mental illness is often possible. That's the goal of VA's peer specialist mental health program—to have Veterans who have recovered from mental illness serve as role models for other Veterans. The concept is simple: Veterans will connect better with those who have experienced the same things.

A recent survey conducted by VA researchers in Syracuse, N.Y., and Pittsburgh, along with colleagues at the RAND Corporation, showed the achievements, and difficulties, of hiring Veterans with serious mental illnesses. The findings, published in the Psychiatric Rehabilitation Journal, pointed to widespread success and some room for improvement.

VA is largest employer of mental health peer specialists

VA has employed peer specialists for mental health since 2005 and is, in fact, their largest single employer in the world.

As a Peer Support Specialist, Hines Veteran Michael Roland is part of a unique cadre of people joining VA's mental health care teams. Peer Support Specialists are Veterans who have successfully dealt with their own mental health recovery for a minimum of one year and successfully completed a program of training and certification.

The program expanded dramatically when President Obama signed an order in 2012 to improve mental health care for Veterans. That led to VA hiring more than 900 peer specialists nationwide to help treat Veterans with mental illness.

Ninety-two of VA's 138 Local Recovery Coordinators, or LRCs, responded to a 2010 survey asking them about the peer specialist program. The LRCs, who are generally psychologists or social workers, were asked to rate the difficulty and effectiveness of hiring, training and employing peer specialists and to gauge their impact on care.

Seventy percent of the respondents said peer specialists had been hired at their site. Virtually all were familiar with the program. Over half of the LRCs who worked with peer specialists reported that implementation was going well. The most frequent response on the survey was that the Veterans held the peer specialists in "high regard." They were having a positive impact on care and were of great assistance.

Unfortunately some respondents couldn't define exactly what the peer specialists should be doing. In a few facilities, coordinators felt the peer specialists weren't being used enough.

Research yields suggestions to improve

Research yields suggestions to improve training

Another topic that came up was training. Peer specialists currently undergo training, ranging from 40 to 80 hours, just to be certified. Topics include, for example, how to use your story as a recovery tool and how to listen effectively. Based on the survey responses, the researchers suggested that integrating the LRCs into the training process and allowing them to tailor the content based on need and location would further enhance the program's effectiveness and ensure everyone involved understands his or her role.

When it came to care, responses were overwhelmingly positive. Peer specialists were seen as role models, showing it is possible to cope successfully with mental illness, and in some cases, to recover. Wrote the study authors, "PS were reported to provide hope and an extra resource for Veterans."

"TRIATHLON" CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 triathlon goes in both directions," said Gemmell. "Triathlon is very challenging and so is working toward housing homeless Veterans. You collect all the resources you need to accomplish your goal, but things happen that slow you down, distract, and frustrate you. When obstacles arise, you deal with them the best way you can and keep moving forward toward the finish line. Then, at the end, when you have crossed the line all the struggle and trial is worth it! During the times of greatest struggle in a race I draw on the inspiration of my fellow Vets and people I have met battling cancer to remind myself of what a privilege it is to be healthy enough to do what I love."

Gemmell looks forward to racing in several other events this season and hopes to be just as successful.

PACT Teams Improve Access, Vet Satisfaction

WASHINGTON -- The Department of Veterans Affairs' (VA) Patient Aligned Care Teams (PACTs), VA's model for more personalized and accessible primary care delivery, is improving access to health care and Veteran satisfaction, according to data released today by the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Since its inception in 2010, the PACT program has transformed the way Veterans receive their care by offering a coordinated team approach squarely focused on Veterans' wellness and disease prevention.

"Every day, VA works to provide Veterans access to the high-quality health care they have earned and deserve," said Secretary of Veterans Affairs Eric K. Shinseki. "PACTs provide the right combination of health care professionals to develop a personalized health plan for each Veteran and deliver care conveniently at primary care clinics and through new eHealth options. Through PACTs, VA is achieving more personalized, proactive and patient-driven care. As a result, Veterans are increasingly more satisfied with their care."

VA is the largest integrated health care system in the United States, caring for approximately 5.3 million Veterans in primary care settings. Over the past two years, VA has bolstered its support to all medical centers to expand established PACTs. Teams are comprised of a provider, a Registered Nurse care manager, a clinical associate, and an administrative associate. Clinical pharmacists, social workers, nutritionists, and behavioral health staff support PACTs.

Since implementing PACTs, the number of primary care patients has increased 12 percent, and the number of encounters with Veterans has increased 50 percent mostly due to telehealth, telephone and group encounters. Communicating with health care professionals through secure electronic means has increased dramatically as well. Despite the increase of primary care patients, access to primary care has improved and continuity of care is better. Additionally, approximately 65 percent of Veterans requesting a same day primary care appointment with their personal provider are accommodated and 78 percent of Veterans are able to see their own primary care provider for an appointment on the date they desire. Veteran access to primary care during extended hours (non-business hours) has increased 75 percent since January 2013.

Low Testosterone: What Type of Impact Can it Have on Men

By Tim Cresson, PharmD Candidate 2014

Aurora CBOC

Testosterone is mainly produced by the Leydig cells in the testes. It is derived from cholesterol and can be converted to estrogens by further reactions (too much conversion to estrogens is one way in which testosterone can become low). In healthy men, production peaks in the mid-20s and declines by 0.2-2% per year. This decrease is usually just a normal part of the aging process for most men, but can also come from excessive stress, obesity, smoking, or excessive BPA, phthalate, or organophosphate exposure. Dehydroepiandrosterone (DHEA) is a hormone secreted by the adrenal glands that is converted to testosterone in body tissues and supplements the Leydig cells' production.

Approximately 30% of men over the age of 60 have clinically low serum testosterone levels (< 300 ng/dL). Although the link to increased mortality has not been completely demonstrated as of yet, low testosterone can lead to development of other conditions such as diabetes, osteoporosis, and cardiovascular disease.

Symptoms of low testosterone present around age 40 and tend to be somewhat vague. They can include: decrease in muscle mass, decrease in pubic/axillary hair, irritability, hot flashes, increased body fat, low energy, and decreased sexual drive. Changes in a man's body shape, mood, libido, and strength over a period of time are key factors in coming up with the diagnosis. Because of the association between low testosterone and other endocrine disorders like diabetes, it recommended that screenings take place more frequently than in otherwise healthy patients.

Zinc has been shown to be low in men with low testosterone.

Saw Palmetto works by decreasing the conversion of testosterone to the more potent dihydrotestosterone (DHT), which exhibits most of its effects on the prostate and reproductive system. Blocking this conversion means that there is more testosterone present to contribute to other body systems like the musculature.

Testosterone can be prescribed as an extended-release injection (cypionate; propionate; enathenate), a topical preparation such as a cream or gel (AndroGel, Testim, Fortesta, Axiron, Androderm), or as a buccal system that is placed on the gum line (Striant). All products work by directly increasing testosterone concentration in the body, which helps to alleviate symptoms. Side effects of testosterone therapy are generally mild and include decreased sperm count, slight rise in PSA, prostatitis, acne, and arthralgia.

On-the-Spot Awards:

The On-the-Spot awards program was established and is supported by the Director's Office. The program is intended to provide immediate recognition to employees who make contributions in support of the VA mission, organizational goals and objectives, and VA's Strategic Plan. In April, each Service was given their allotment of "On-The-Spot" Awards for issuance. A grand total of 783 awards are waiting to be issued. Employees will receive $50 in their paycheck for each on-the-spot award approved. Employees and supervisors can nominate employees for this special recognition. It's a way of saying thanks to employees who make a difference.

Over 72 percent of all Veterans discharged from VA are contacted within two days to ensure they are following discharge instructions and check in on their condition. These critical post-discharge follow-ups are important to reducing readmissions.

Mental Health Integration is also a critical component of PACTs and the program's goal to provide coordinated care. Veterans now see mental health providers in the primary care setting. In just one year (FY12-FY13) using the PACTs model, mental health services offered in VA primary care clinics increased 18 percent.

Overall, PACTs program implementation has been associated with important utilization changes—fewer primary care patients are receiving care in urgent care settings (decreased 33 percent) and acute hospital admissions have decreased 12 percent due to improved care management and coordination from PACTs.

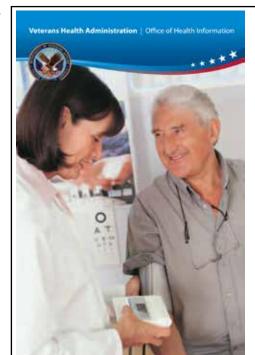

Equally important, both rural and urban Veterans report a high level of satisfaction with VA services. Veterans also indicated they are more likely to recommend treatment at a VA facility than at non-VA facilities. This positive feedback is consistent with the 2013 American Customer Satisfaction Index, which reported that Veterans strongly endorse VA health care, with 91 percent offering positive assessments of inpatient care and 92 percent for outpatient care.

The PACT model has allowed VA to create COMPASS—a dashboard program which extracts and derives these types of metrics and information from multiple VA sources to track the status of the implementation.

"Our PACTs outcomes to date support VA's ongoing health care transition to a health system focused on a personalized approach to care. We seek to help every Veteran achieve his or her unique health goals." said Dr. Robert A. Petzel, VA's Under Secretary for Health.

Do You See Non-VA Health Care Providers? Virtual Lifetime Electronic Record (VLER) Health

Coming Soon to Hines!

What is VLER Health?

VLER Health is a program that shares certain parts of your health care record between the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA), Department of Defense (DoD), and selected private health care providers over a secure network known as the Nationwide Health Information Network.

Frequently Asked Questions

Is the information secure?

Yes. The Information is sent securely through the Internet using the Nationwide Health Information Network.

What is the difference between VLER Health and My HealtheVet?

VLER Health allows VA health care providers to share medical information with DoD and selected private health care providers. My HealtheVet will allow Veterans to create a personal health record for your own use.

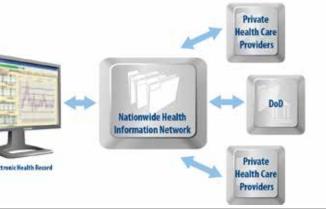

How often do I have to update my permission to share my health information?

At this time, your signed authorization form is good for 5 years.

Why is VLER Health Important to You?

Three out of four Veterans receive a portion of their care from non-VA health care providers. Sharing certain parts of your electronic health record will help reduce the need for patients and families to carry records between health care providers. It will also allow your private health care provider to make informed decisions about your care.

DID YOU KNOW

Dealing With Stress, Anxiety, and Depression

Stress, anxiety, and depression can get in the way of your health. If coping becomes difficult, VA is here to help. Talk with your primary care provider.

Here are some self-management coping tips:: Change Your Thinking

- Your mood (sad, nervous, stressed, etc.) comes from your thoughts and what you tell yourself. In most cases, you can control your mood by choosing what you think about and what you tell yourself.
- When you are feeling too much stress, be aware of what you are thinking. Are these thoughts making you feel worse? If so, then replace them with more positive thoughts.

Help Your Body Handle Stress

• Yourmoodaffectsyourbody,andviceversa... Taking care of your body will improve your outlook.

Be Active

- Make physical activity a part of every day.
- Listen to or make music, paint, or express yourself artistically.
- Take the time to do things you enjoy!

Eat Wisely

- Eat a healthy diet high in vegetables and fruits.
- Drink plenty of water.
- Avoid managing your mood with unhealthy foods or overeating.

Reduce your Stress

- Get enough rest.
- Try a massage.
- Take a long shower or bath.
- Talk over your troubles with someone you trust.

To care for him who shall have borne the battle,

and for his widow, and his orphan"

WIETERANS Stand Down

The 2014 Summer Stand Down for Homeless Veterans will be held May 30-31!

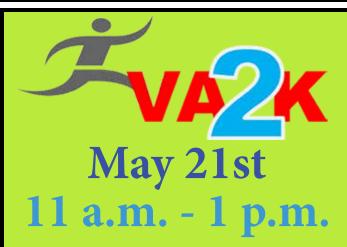

Voluntary Service will be accepting clothing donations between the dates of April 1 and May 23.

Only the following gently used items will be accepted for both men and women: blue jeans, slacks, sweatshirts, light jackets, dress and casual shirts. All clothing must be clean.

In addition, the following new items are requested: underwear (briefs), athletic socks, tennis shoes, t-shirts.

Clothing will be accepted until May 23rd.

For more information, contact Voluntary Service at (708) 202-22523.

Community members, Veterans, and VA employees are encouraged to participate in the Hines VA2K Walk/Run. This is not a race, and everyone is welcome to walk or roll the approximately 1.2 mile event. The VA2K encourages people of all fitness levels to embrace healthy lifestyle choices that sustain and improve health and well-being.

Participants have the option to donate food and clothing for homeless Veterans. More than 25,000 people at 170 VA facilities took part in VA2K last year. Donations totaled more than $300,000. With your help, we hope to help even more Veterans.

Hines CBOCs

Hines currently operates six Community Based Outpatient Clinics (CBOCs), which are local, outpatient primary care clinics, to make access to healthcare easier. The clinics offer a variety of services including women's healthcare, laboratory services, retinal imaging, pharmacy and nutrition consultations, home-based primary care, group health education and mental health services. Some locations offer specialty care to include audiology assessments and hearing aid repair, physical therapy and rehabilitation, as well as geriatric care.
